London, Aug. 23.—The correspondent of the Dolly Moil at Harbin, Mapchuria, under date of August 21 says that heavy fighting has taken place along the Ussuri River, which forms the eastern boundary of Manchuria. The British and French troops engaged in the fighting suffered light casualties.

The Japanese have joined in the fighting, but the brunt of the battle no far has been borne by the Czecho-Slovaks and the Cossacks. The Allies, who are outnumbered, have been forced to withdraw, but Japanese reinforcements are cultumbered, have been forced to with-draw, but Japanese reinforcements are arriving and are assisting in stemming the advance of the Bolsheviki, who are receiving their commands in German. Bolshevik monitors are operating on Lake Hangka and are harassing the left fork of the Allies.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 23 .- German force were victorious over a force of 1,200 in-surgents, well equipped with artillery and commanded by Gen. Rebenko, near and commanded by Gen. Rebenko, near Krementchug, according to a Kiev depatch to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin. In a second encounter, which occurred near Poltava, sixty-four miles northeast of Krementchug, the revolutionaries lost 800 men killed and the Germans took six machine guns and other equipment. The survivors of the revolutionary band fied, but their retreat was cut off by the pursuing Germans.

Gen. Petapoff, commander-in-chief of the Red Guard army in the Murmansk region, is a prisoner in the hands of the region, is a prisoner in the hands of the Allies, says a Petrograd despatch to the Weser Estung of Bremen. He was raught by peasants while attempting to flee southward and handed over to the

AMERICANS PARADE AT VLADIVOSTOK

Bolshevist Element Shows Its Hostility.

Viadivostor, Aug. 19 (delayed).—
The deferred parade of the American troops took place to-day under fine weather conditions. The Americans created a favorable impression on the other allied troops, who warmly greeted them.

There was a distinct atmosphere of tility on the part of a majority of the native population, owing to the predominance of the Bolshevist ele-ment, but there was no open demonstra-

WINS VALOR CROSS

Son of Police Captain Braved Barrage to Deliver Message.

COMRADES TELL STORY

Member of 165th Crossed Ourca Amid Hail of German Shrapnel.

Police Cant Charles H McKinney of the West Forty-seventh street station received word yesterday that his son, Corporal Joseph Paxton McKinney of Company A, 165th Infantry, is to receive the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in the battle of the Ourcq.

On others. However, as the vote against the McKenzie amendment was in the proportion of more than 4 to 3, it is unlikely that it will be changed.

The incident for which Corporal Moto the dead man's side, seized the despatch and plunged back into the stream In the meantime the German gunners had let loose a heavy barrage to pre-vent any possible retreat on the part of the attacking companies and through this the corporal waded, with the shrap-nel kicking up white caps all about him. Part way over, McKinney turned, waved his hand reassuringly and shouted to some of his company mates who were watching him run death's gantlet, "I'll deliver it all right." On the south shore of the stream he again turned, gave an-other triumphant wave and made for the American lines at top speed.

\Corporal McKinney will be 21 years
